

Quality Control Director:

Midwest Precision Molding is a small growing molder and assembler of plastic components for the Medical, Food Safety and Communications industry. We are looking for a Quality Control Director with some experience but also someone that wants to grow and continue to learn and contribute to a fast growing company located in beautiful Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. We are a family owned company so all decisions are made right here.

The candidate must have a Sense of Urgency and be willing to work on the floor when required and be part of the solution in creating a quality department that will contribute to the growth of our company.

If you are looking for a company to allow you to “coast into retirement” please do not apply!
